Dear Mr Narasimhayya

In January or February 1900 I think we called for an estimate of the cost of Roads & Building in connection with the Census. The Public Offices Repairs Census one accordingly. In August 1900 the Census Public Works a requisition for Rs 60000 which we sanctioned as a Famine relief work with certain observations. In 1901 Census Rs 25000 for Roads & Building

As this distinction exists at the present Census also, this amount should be reckoned. If this be done, the cost of establishments would be Rs 71,036.

2. Taking the cost of the Census of 1891 to have been Rs 1,34,101 as given at page 392 of the Census Report, the amount will there be found to be distributed as shewn below:-

II.	Press charges under all heads	27,932
III.	Establishment under all heads	71.036
IV.	Contingent charges under all heads	15.993

3. Excluding here the items I & II, the amount under heads III & IV comes to be Rs #87.029. As the great bulk of this, relates to Abstraction and Tabulation it will be readily understood how under under all the circumstances the cost would vary with the population censused. As we expect an increase of 18 per cent in the popu- lation to be censused at the ensuing census*, it may be fairly expected that the cost under these two heads would be 18 percent (i.e. 15,660 Rs) more, reaching the total or say Rs 103000 (One hundred three thousand) of Rs 1.02,689. Some items of this expenditure are initial outlays (as on furniture &c) and some are monthly recurring charges such as pay of establishments and petty

Under such circumstances it will be seen that a larger proportion of the expenditure on the present occasion will appear in the accounts of the first official year of the entire period than it did on the last occasion. All things considered, I would say that Rs 35,000 may be provided for in the current-

As regards Press charges including purchase of paper, and cost of printing, the Superintendent of the Government Press has reported that the Census of 1891 cost altogether Rs 49494 (the amount being distributed over items as shewn in the margin), and that an estimate for the present Census may be taken at the same figure or Rs 50,000 in round number.
